ANTICIPATION.
Willie, Elsie, Bertha and Dot
Are almost wild in their glee
Over the thought of a Christmas-feast
With dear old Grandmother Lee.
White is the Quaker cap that she wears,
And white and smooth is her brow;
Spotless her dress of soft silver gray;
Sweet is her "thee" and her "thou."
Sunny and warm is the homestead large,
And so is grandmamma's heart;
For Elsie, Willie, Bertha and Dot
A corner is set apart.
Our dear little Elsie knelt to-night
And whispered on bended knees,
"Let me go, dear Lord, to grandmamma's
Instead of to heaven, please." M. P. R.
